FABIO

The FABIO mattress features an independent Pocket Spring system combined with latex-infused coconut coir layers on both sides. This construction provides stable support, minimizes excessive sinkage, and delivers a balanced medium-firm feel.

A thermofelt layer protects the spring unit while helping distribute body weight evenly across the mattress for enhanced comfort and long-lasting performance.

FRANKOF

The double-quilted knitted fabric cover provides a softer first touch, enhancing overall comfort from the moment you lie down.

MATEO

The MATEO mattress features an independent Pocket Spring system with an asymmetrical dual-firmness design. The combination of latex-infused coconut coir, thermofelt, and a 2 cm elastic foam base creates two distinct sleeping surfaces—one softer and the other firmer—allowing you to choose the comfort level that best suits your preferences.

FRANKOF

The double-quilted knitted fabric cover adds a soft, cushioned feel while creating a rich, textured surface for enhanced comfort and a premium appearance.

NICO

The NICO mattress features an independent Pocket Spring system with a symmetrical design. 1.5 cm elastic foam layers on both sides provide the same level of comfort no matter which side of the mattress you choose.

A thermofelt layer helps distribute body weight evenly while separating the comfort layers from the spring unit, enhancing both support and the mattress's overall durability.

FRANKOF

The double-quilted knitted fabric cover enhances the softness of the sleeping surface, providing an even more comfortable feel from the very first touch.
